Dimensions Index:

VOLUME NINE

Authors

Alexander, Nancy P.
Helpful suggestions and guidelines for caregivers and teachers on helping children to become more independent.

Andrews, Pearl
An introduction to the need for a multi-cultural curriculum in preschool.

Charlesworth, Rosalind
Guidelines for teaching children about math through everyday activities.

Cook, Nancy Ililback
Focus is on the interplay between the marital relationship and the parent/child relationship during the changes which occur after the birth of a child.

Ekland, Susan J.
The basic premise that development occurs at all ages is studied in view of parent/child relationships at various stages of life.

Euster, Sandra and Noble, Lynne
Outline of the South Carolina Model for Foster Parent Training Programs.

Fernhoff, Paul
A review of the genetic causes of birth defects and retardation in children.

Finegold, Edith
A review of books concerning parents and children. Books range from research, "How-to" popular guides, critiques, personal accounts and counseling.

Furstenberg, Frank F. Jr.
A study of the role of the family in mediating the impact of early childbearing on the teenage mother and her child.

Greenberg, Judith B.
The role of the single parent is viewed through a survey of 38 middle-class men and women, all of whom were raising children alone in a southern metropolitan area in the late 1970's.

Hale, Janice
The adjustments that confront black children in academic settings are discussed through the functions of the black family and characteristics of the black family that influence childrearing.

Hanley, Patricia E. and Adams, Margaret
How to make simple games to provide concrete manipulative learning experiences for young children.

Hol/Hale, Shirley Ann
Guidelines and ideas for a curriculum of movement education for the preschooler.

Honig, Alice Sterling
The impact of fatherly nurturance on young children is explored in various patterns.

Jobe, Patricia and Washington, Rachel E.
Recipes and ideas for preschool cooking activities. Includes examples of coded recipe chart that children can use without knowing how to read.

Johnson, A. Sidney and Ooms, Theodora
An examination of the affect of government policies on families.

Jurkovic, Gregory J.
A study of the way family members of different ages conceptualize such multi-faceted issues as family, parent-child relationships, parental roles and the personhood of children.

Kears, David and Berger, Michael
The effects of internal and external changes on the family unit are discussed with emphasis on the influences of outside supports on the ability of the family to respond to the stresses of life-cycle change.

Klein, Barry L.
Principles for dealing with parents and families of handicapped children are outlined in this touching personal story.

Lancaster, Jane B.
Exploration of the biological, ecological and social adaptation patterns that set human beings apart from other primates. The family as an institution is looked at in an evolutionary perspective.

Manfredi, Lynn A.
Effective ways day care directors can find and enroll children for their centers.

Matter, Darryl E. and Warren, Roxana M.
A review of the stress placed on male children and the changing attitudes in raising boys.

Peters, Donald L. and Benn, JoAnne L.
An overview of the history and current use of day care services by American families.

Robinson, Bryan E.; Flake-Hobson, Carol and Skeen, Patsy L.
Simulation and role playing exercises for learning about children and parents.

Scarborough, Alma May
Guidelines and suggestions for writing stories for preschoolers.

Scott, Myrtle
A study of the relationship between the family and its environment. This model sees the family as a dynamic interdependent system containing members of the family combined with a series of factors in the environment.

Stevens, Joseph H. and Cooper, Mark J.
The influences of the black parents' circle of friends and relatives on their children's development is explored through various relationships.

Sudia, Cecelia E.
A study of the characteristics of abusive mothers (teenaged mothers are emphasized) and programs which are designed to help them.

Waldrop, Sybil C. and Scarborough, Alma May
Guidelines and suggestions for using crayons in preschool curriculum for all age groups.

Continued on page 30